Starting paper quilling requires basic supplies and tools. This tutorial will break down the necessary materials and techniques for beginners, with more advanced shapes covered in future posts. ##### Basic Supplies: * Paper strips * A tool (preferably a slotted quilling tool for ease of use) * Glue Optional tools include workboards, circle sizing guides, and pins. To begin quilling, start with a paper strip and a tool, like a toothpick or a proper quilling tool. ##### Using the Quilling Tool: * Insert the paper into the slot of the tool. * Hold the paper with even tension while turning the tool. * Turn it whichever way feels most comfortable, as some people turn it backwards and others forwards. When winding the paper onto the tool, place your thumb and forefinger on either side to maintain even tension. To take the coil off the tool without unraveling, press your thumbnail on the barrel of the tip or let the coil expand before removal. ##### Coil Shapes: * A tight roll is achieved by gluing the coil. * A loose circle coil is created when you glue the coil shut after letting it expand. * Scroll shapes are made by twirling the paper without gluing the end, allowing for various rolling and folding techniques.
